Bank or Wire Transfer

* Standard invoice terms on purchases made directly to Isidian Technologies, Inc. is Net 30 days.

Bulk License Discounts

Bulk License Discounts are not applied online. These may only be applied when purchasing directly from Isidian Technologies, Inc. through a sales representative.

1 or more Licenses	No discount available.
5 or more Licenses	7% discount of total purchase.
10 or more Licenses.	15% discount of total purchase.
25 or more Licenses.	25% discount of total purchase.

To verify your qualifications for bulk licensing and to begin the purchasing process, please contact a sales representative by emailing sales@isidian.com or by calling our office at 214.953.0635.

The Bulk License Discounts may be applied only to a single transaction. For example, if two separate purchases are made for three (3) licenses, totaling six (6) licenses, no discount will be available unless all six (6) are purchased in one transaction.

Coupon Discounts

Coupon Discounts may be applied when purchasing both online and through invoice. Coupons are occasionally awarded as time-limited offers and promotions granting a percentage discount on any purchase made. Custom coupons may be negotiated with a site if bulk licensing must be made available through online purchases.

For information on product training, please email training@isidian.com or contact a sales representative.

If you need to contact a sales representative or have questions about bulk licensing, please contact a sales representative by emailing sales@isidian.com.

Post-Purchase Process

Isidian's product registration process helps our customers start making use of our products immediately after purchase. In order to register a product license, the evaluation edition of the product must first be downloaded and installed on your machine. After using the evaluation edition of the product, there is nothing to send via mail, no additional downloads, and no new installations.

After you have purchased a product, online or direct through a sales representative, we will send you a purchase confirmation email containing two important pieces of information: the Order Number and Organization Name. The order number is an internal number used to validate your company with our registration process, and the organization name is the same as you supply during product purchase. With the evaluation edition of the product installed, you will find the product's License Number within the Registration window from the Help Menu of the application.

With these three pieces of information, the Order Number, Organization Name, and License Number, you can complete the product registration form (additional details/instructions may be available on registration form). When submitted, you will receive a confirmation email containing your Registration Number for the product.

Once you've obtained the product's Registration Number, enter this number into the product's Registration window directly below the license number and press the button labeled "Register". If all information is correct, the product will be successfully registered.
